

“Legally Speaking”

Welcome to a pilot educational project launched in Poznań for students who need English for their career, international friends or... who share a passion for the language!

Times:	Wednesdays 17.00 - 18.00
Dates:	8 February, 22 February, 7 March, 21 March
Venue:	LEC, Dąbrowskiego 22/22a/5
Group:	1-6 people
Registration:	1-2 days before the event, by phone or mail
Cost:	20PLN per session current LEC students free of charge

Contents and goals: inspiring, wide-ranging topics, multimedia presentations, movie clips, techniques for boosting your confidence while speaking and enriching legal vocabulary.

After the session: each participant will receive a brief glossary of key phrases and collocations as a helpful reminder.

The topic areas for the first 4 sessions:

1st class: “So you want to be a lawyer? Why not a doctor?!” – the attractiveness of a legal profession in modern times; the financial crisis impact on law firms and employability problems.

2nd class: “And the Award Goes To...” – this meeting revolves around the Academy awards. Who does an Oscar go to this February? Do you have your favourites? The future of the movie industry in the light of IP rights protection and enforcement issues.

3rd class: “Two-speed Europe?”– what, if not a collapse, is going to happen to the European Union? Once a powerful dream, now a hobbling nightmare? Poland’s future in the organization. Learn all the buzz words currently in the news.

4th class: “Welcome to the courtroom”– we will have a real case heard during this class! And trust us, no party to the dispute will have an absolute reason! Who will prevail? Well, come and find out!

Host: Mr Maciej Kautz, a proficient English speaker who studied law in Belgium and the USA, an acute observer of our reality and recent developments, a passionate speaker full of intriguing ideas.

Visiting teacher: Agnieszka Chojecka
